

Everyone is looking for the perfect marketing success model. If you are a marketer your success model is to market your own products or to promote an affiliate products.

Promotion can be done many ways, if you have a website but not much traffic, you would go to a high PR traffic website (most social bookmarking sites are high traffic sites) and post a link to an article you would have written on your main website. At the bottom of your article in the signature you would put your website URL. Next bookmark your article, with url and description at the higher PR social bookmarking website and you would then get traffic back to your main website.
